Dear Youth Sports Safety Alliance,

Fusionetics is pleased to formally support the Youth Sports Safety Alliance and the collective efforts to make sport participation safer through technological advances, promotion of best practices, and result-focused exercise programming that manage risk.

Participation in organized and recreational sporting activities is certainly not without risk. We want to ensure that young athletes, parents, coaches and health care providers have access to an evidence - based platform that creates and monitors specific training programs based on individualized movement patterns.

We know that clinical and scientific evidence demonstrate movement efficiency matters! We are committed to supporting national and local initiatives that protect our young athletes through continued research, product innovation, training and development.

We look forward to opportunities to support the YSSA.

Sincerely,

DR. Micheal A Clark, DPT, PT, MS, PES, CES
