

December 3, 2009

The National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), with 30,000 members, comprised of middle level and high school principals and assistant principals from around the country, is supportive of the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) goal to address the youth sports safety crisis in America.

Secondary school principals believe in the important role that sports play in developing our nation's young people. However, they are keenly aware of the potential injuries that their student athletes face in athletic activities.

By hosting the Alliance to Address the Youth Sports Crisis in America, NATA will draw national attention to a topic that is of great importance in our nation's schools.

NASSP is proud to support NATA on this important initiative.

Sincerely,

Gerald N. Tirozzi
Executive Director